P. H. S. CLASS DAY EXERCISES

Members Hold Annual Festivities With Interesting Ceremony of Planting Ivy

Today is Class Day for the Seniors of the Portsmouth High School and this afternoon at three o'clock exercises fitting for the occasion were held. Assembly Hall in the High School building was filled with relatives and friends of the class and students of the school who much enjoyed the class day exercises. Members of the Junior class acted as ushers.

The High School orchestra rendered music for the occasion and the graduates marched in by couples. Robert Kirkpatrick, president of the Junior class, acting as marshal. The class officers and class members who took part in the exercises occupied seats on the stage, while the others occupied the front seats of the hall, these being reserved for their use and were designated by white and gold ribbons, the class colors.

The afternoon's program was as follows:

Grand March Class of 1919
Address, Under Graduates
Rosecoe Foust
Class History Miss Elizabeth Odell
Class Will Miss Hazel Manning
Class Prophecy Miss Jocelyn McDonough
Class Limericks Miss Dorothy Rundlett

Planting of the Ivy Class of 1919
Presentation of Shovel
Henry J. Margeson

Acceptance of Shovel
Robert Kirkpatrick

After the reading of the class history, the class will prophecy and limericks, the seniors marched out of doors for the planting of the ivy. Henry H. Margeson, class president, threw in the first shovelful of earth as the ivy was planted and in a few fitting words he then presented the shovel to Robert Kirkpatrick, Junior class president, who responded.

The address to the under graduates, the class history, will, prophecy and limericks, as given were as follows:

Address to the undergraduates:

For years it has been the custom for some Senior to deliver an address to the undergraduates at their Class Day exercises, which address has more or less often taken the form of some nonsensical advice which we Seniors have felt duty bound to impart to those following in our tracks—advice drawn from our experiences, which, once given, more often leads to more difficulties, reveals more temptations to you under classmen than making

"We Have Waited Forty-Nine Years For This," Said Premier Clemenceau As He Announced Germany Would Sign--Peace Treaty Will Be Signed Thursday--Germans Have Burned French Captured Flags

PROSECUTION COMPLETES EVIDENCE

Lawrence, Mass., June 24.—With the evidence for the prosecution nearly completed Mrs. Desso M. (Steele) Lundgren, the nurse charged with the murder of Miss Florence W. Gay of Andover whom she is alleged to have poisoned, was expected to take the witness stand in her own behalf today. Her counsel said that the defendant, still suffering from the effects of a recent illness and operation would probably be under direct examination two hours. Physicians were present to care for her in the event of weakness during her direct examination and the cross examination to follow.

(By Associated Press)
The signing of the peace treaty with Germany probably will take place on Thursday, it is indicated in Paris advices today. There is some doubt about the date as yet, however, because of lack of word from Germany regarding her new representation at Versailles. President Wilson has ordered the transport, George Washington, to be held in readiness at Brest for his departure for home. He has agreed, it is said, to remain in Paris until the treaty has been signed. Final arrangements for the ceremony are being made at Versailles by Premier Clemenceau, President of the Peace Conference. Work on the Italian treaty was resumed by the Representatives of the Great Powers in Paris today. The Council has referred the question of the sinking of the German ships in Scapa Flow to a commission for determination as to whether the Armistice conditions were violated by the German act. Signor Tittoni, the new Foreign Minister of Italy, will be the leading Italian delegate at the Peace Conference, according to advices from Rome. It is said declarations he has made do not reflect any disposition on his part to recede from the position taken by former Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino as to Italian claims on the eastern shore of the Adriatic.

Paris, June 24.—Word of the burning of certain French battle flags by the Germans, has been received here. Peace Conference opinion is apparently unanimous that this is a distinct violation of the peace treaty. It is probable that a commission will be appointed to consider taking action in the matter—presumably the foregoing refers to French battle flags taken by the Germans in the war of 1870-71. Article 245 of the Peace Treaty in the original draft stipulated that within six months after the treaty should take effect Germany must restore to France all trophies, works of art, and so forth, carried from France by the German authorities in the Franco-German war. Particularly the French flags taken in the course of the war of 1870-71.

Paris, Monday, June 23.—"We have waited forty-nine years for this moment," exclaimed Premier Clemenceau as he opened the fateful dispatch announcing that Germany would sign the Treaty at the meeting of the Council of Three this afternoon. "For forty-nine years," he continued, "the mailed fist of the German trooper, who has governed Germany, has menaced the world. Whether the man's name was Bismarck or Wilhelm II it was still the same trooper of the Middle Ages surrounded by soldiery and drunk with pride."

TROLLEY SERVICE OF EASTERN MASS. BAD

(By Associated Press)
Boston, June 24.—The trolley service of the Eastern Massachusetts (Bay State) system continued disrupted north of Boston and partly affected south of the city today. Meanwhile the striking carmen voted at meetings of their several unions on the question whether to return to work in obedience to the order of the International Union officers. In most cities the vote was taken at afternoon meetings the results of which were to be announced at a conference of the joint executive committee of the International body tonight. Reports of the managers of the system indicated it was said, that there would be a considerable vote in favor of returning to the cars as advised by International President W. D. Mahon yesterday.

CONDITION OF SUNKEN GERMAN SHIPS

(By Associated Press)
London, June 24.—Three of the German warships, which their crews attempted to sink at Scapa Flow, have been beached, and the Baden is moored in readiness for beaching. It was announced officially today. There is every prospect of salvaging the ships in good condition if the necessary apparatus arrives before bad weather sets in. Two destroyers are afloat and eighteen have been beached. It is added that there is no prospect of salvaging the other destroyers without elaborate preparations.

N. Y. CONFRONTED WITH FOOD SHORTAGE

(By Associated Press)
New York, June 24.—New York city's supply of fruits and vegetables will be virtually exhausted by night fall according to market men unless steps taken to settle the strike of 3000 teamsters, chauffeurs, and porters, members of local 202 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters are successful. The strike with the subsequent shortages was reflected in retail markets where prices began to soar on the small stocks available.

NEW FOREIGN SECRETARY WILL SIGN

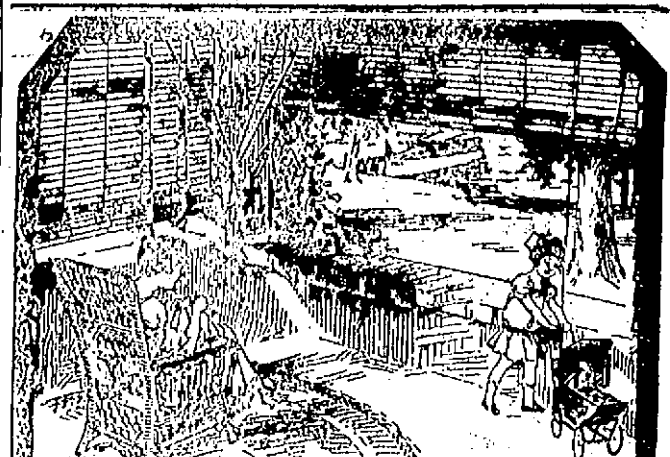

(By Associated Press)
Paris, June 24.—Herman Mueller, the new German Foreign Secretary will head the German delegation to sign the peace treaty at Paris newspaper says. The Germans probably will arrive at Versailles Wednesday morning.

NEW ITALIAN DELEGATES

(By Associated Press)
Rome, Monday, June 23.—The new Italian delegation to the peace conference it was announced tonight will leave here Wednesday and expects to arrive in Paris in time to sign the treaty of peace with Germany.

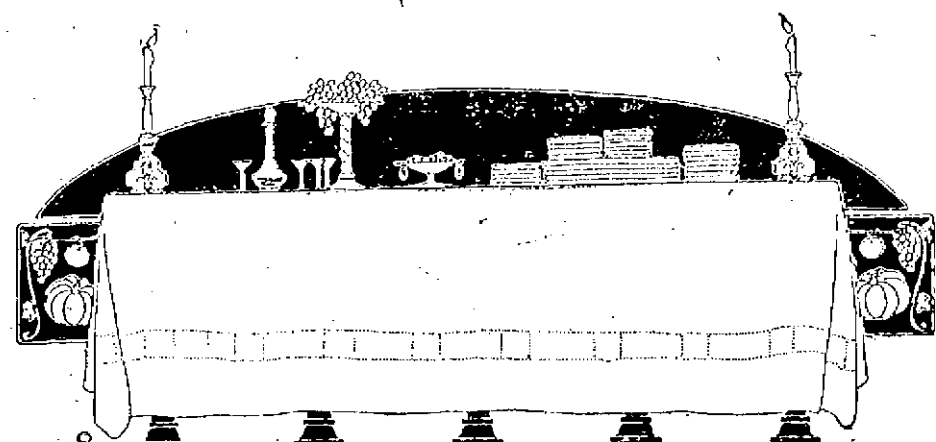

THE WEATHER

Washington, June 24.—Fair tonight. Wednesday partly cloudy, probably showers in New Hampshire and Vermont. Gentle to moderate winds becoming gusty.

—After a very careful investigation we have arranged to distribute these two nationally-known and nationally-favored lines of Waists in this city. Before deciding on this step we learned the Wirthmor and Welworth Waists were being handled by many of the best stores in America; that they had attained through their unvarying excellence a nation-wide popularity; that because of the unique Wirthmor Plan under which they are made and sold that they always represented the highest possible standard of value in popular price Blouses, and further because of this very unusual method of making and selling Waists we would be able to show the new and wanted styles first, in many instances long in advance of their appearance in the market generally.
These are America's only known priced Waists, and they are sold at the same low prices the nation over.

your voyage more calm and serene. New the class of 1919 has always been more or less radical in its enterprises. It has not felt itself duty-bound to follow old established customs; it has established new precedents. It has progressed! And so, this afternoon, I shall establish another precedent by delivering this address which has a rather serious theme. You may call it a sermon if you will.

You are all acquainted with Diogenes—perhaps I should say you have all heard of him—who sought at noon in Athens, with a lantern, for an honest man—and found in vain. He cried aloud in the market place, "Hear me, O men," and then when a crowd had collected, he scorned them with, "I called for men, not pygmies." He was, of course, cynical in the extreme, but nevertheless, his cry has echoed down through the ages, "Wanted, a man." A man who will not lose his individuality in a crowd, a man who has the courage of his convictions, who is not afraid to say "no" to the world say "yes!" And of what use is high school training if it does not help to train us to be just such men and women?

When Garfield was asked as a young boy what he meant to be, he answered, "First of all I must make myself a man. If I do not succeed in that, I can succeed in nothing." He sounds the keynote to all high school students: First, be men and women; all else is secondary.

But the qualities of manhood are many. Will power is required, during the conquering of obstacles, grit, self-mastery, power of decision, patience, charity, and so I might go on. The qualities are innumerable.

Let us consider some of these, and note their application to high school work. "Where there's a will there's a way." You've heard that time worn phrase so much that you have grown tired of it and taken this truth to experience for granted. The will is indomitable. "The education of the will," said Emerson, "is the object of our existence. For the resolute and determined there is time and opportunity. There are plenty of opportunities for the exercise of will-power in high school. It requires an unlimited amount to get down and study when the outdoors calls you, when you had rather be free to roam about and do as you wish than to be chained down to lessons; dead and modern languages, mathematics, and science, and so on. It requires will-power to refuse to let another profit by your work; only too much of this is carried on. To refuse to copy another's work yourself is still harder, but the more each individual realizes what is required of him, and the sooner he carries out this realization, the sooner will the standard of the school be raised to that level which it should attain.

To true manhood and womanhood must be added a certain measure of bravery, bravery to fight out what you know to be wrong; courage to stand by your own convictions, convictions which you know to be right, for every person's moral principles are inclined along the right track until they are perverted by some outside influence. At a dinner, during the Civil War, in Beaufort, S. C., where wine flowed freely and ribald jests were bandied, a young fellow who did not drink was told that he could not go until he had drunk a toast, told a story, or sung a song. He replied, "I cannot sing, but I will give a toast, although I must drink it in water. It is 'Our Mothers.'" They were so ashamed that they thanked him for displaying such great courage, the kind of courage that counts, courage that is greater than that which threatens us with bodily harm. We cannot but admire the advice of that ancient philosopher, Pythagoras, who said, "Whatever people may think of you, do that which you think to be right. He who is indifferent to censure or praise." Perhaps it would be well for you to keep this in mind. If you always do what you think is right, the chances are ten to one that it will be right, and your prospects of getting in trouble will be negligible.

Still another requisite is patience. Desire is not lacking in most young people of today. They want something and they want it quickly. They are not willing to wait and build up the necessary foundation for a future career. This is especially applicable to high school students. Only too many are not willing to do their best and then go on to something higher—some institution which will more truly prepare for a useful life work, work which will benefit others as well as one's self.

That, after all, is the greatest thing in the world; that is the purpose for which we were put into the world. A good character is a precious thing, above rubies, gold, crowns, or kingdoms, and the work of making it is the noblest labor on earth, because in performing this labor, we cannot overlook our fellow-men; a noble character will never rest if we harden our hearts to the cries and appeals to those around us, if we dedicate not ourselves and our work to man and to God. Character never dies. In the words of Longfellow:

"Were a star quenched on high,
For ages would its light
Still travel down the path of the sky,
Shine on our mortal sight."

So when a great man dies,
For years beyond our ken,
The light he leaves behind him lies
Upon the paths of men."

But the appeals of present-day men sometimes go unheeded. Never have there been so many words of immortality. Rudyard Kipling is a man among men, and he sums up all that becomes a man in a frank little verse entitled "If."

"If you can dream and not make dreams your master,
If you can think and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same;
If you can hear the truth you've spoken
And then refuse to quaver
at its spite;
If you can build a new LaMotte
And stand on the old one;
If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings, nor lose the common touch;
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much,

If you can fill the unforgetting minute,
With sixty seconds worth of distance
run,
You're a Man, Earth and everything
that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man,
my son!"

CLASS HISTORY

During the past four years, in my daily perusal of the flourishing news sheets of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, I have found several advertisements concerning the Class of 1919 in the Portsmouth Hospital for the Sill, generally known as P. H. S. As I have particular interest in that class I have cut out each one and placed it carefully in my book entitled "Memories." Since now that class is about to leave the Hospital and I have entered my last clipping I will review for you, my list of interesting and unusual advertisements.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED AND NINETEEN

We, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Nineteen, of the Portsmouth High School, of the City of Portsmouth, in the County of Rockingham, and the State of New Hampshire, being of sound mind and memory, do make, publish and declare, this our last will and testament, in the manner following, but that is to say:

First, we do give and bequeath to the Class of Nineteen Twenty the great dignity that will mark their behavior as Seniors. Also that large and glorious Room Four directly across from the office.

Henry Margeson, our efficient president, confers upon Charles Norton, his polished manners and gentlemanly bearing. We hope, Charles, these gifts will show their effect in more ways than one.

Dorothy Rundlett, our popular vice-president, bestows upon Lucille Curtis and Vivian Jennings her store of original and brilliant ideas. Profit by this, girls, and your class will appreciate you.

Benjamin Lisle, our over-worked treasurer, bequeaths to Robert Kirkpatrick his popularity with everyone at all times, and his wayward heart to Burnham Averill. Never lose your heart, Burnham! It doesn't pay.

Louise Butler, our secretary, leaves to Florence Pettigrew her Sunday afternoon walks down Sagamore Avenue. It is with great sorrow that Louise agrees to pass these on to you, Florence, so take care to use this privilege.

Stanley Hatchelder, after much deliberation, passes on to Lawrence Adams his unquestioned popularity with the fair sex, and to Russell Rolston his renown as a fancy dancer.

With much sorrow, Arthur Black bestows upon Paul Badger a few inches of his lofty height. This may seem a bit unnecessary, Paul, but Arthur feels he can spare them.

Evelyn Browne tearfully gives to Catherine Emery her History notebook as complete in every detail. This may come in handy, Chunky, in your Senior year, especially if you have History's first period.

We are sure, Lucille Jacques, that you will spend many happy Sunday afternoons since Marjorie Mitchell generously gives these up to you. They will be more enjoyable still if there is a mandolin accompaniment to help pass away the time.

Philip Hayes and Thomas Loughlin, each with much grief give to Morris Stewart and Eugene Seaward their regular morning visits to a certain Senior in Room Three. Don't let rivalry destroy your friendship, boys, Phil and Tom haven't.

When a Senior, Eleanor Hatchelder will be much distinguished by her giggles, for such is the gift which Blanche Pettigrew bestows upon her.

Margaret O'Brien leaves to Louise Bragdon and Marjorie Dennis her passion for athletics. Perhaps under your leadership the Girls' Indoor Track-meet will materialize.

George Dennison passes on his admiration for blondes to Wyatt Wendell. Zyllha Woods leaves to Francis Furlong the secret of her youthful appearance, and to Martha Fruse her renown in dancing.

After a great deal of contemplation Ralph Cox has been persuaded to pass on to Laura Marshall his "spears," provided that you, Laura, will agree to polish them carefully at the beginning of every period.

Lucille Healy leaves her success behind the footlights to Sarah Thomas. We sincerely hope, Sarah, that you will have the ability to charm your audience as Lucille has.

Stanley Hayes, better known as "Cupid," bestows his winning smiles so popular with the girls, upon Robert Marvin.

With heavy heart, Mary Jackson agrees to give up to Doris Smallwood her desk next to the teacher in Room Four. This is a privilege all of us can't have, Doris.

James McWilliams leaves to Avery Eastman his skill as a baseball player. We hope with your assistance that the team will meet with as great success another year as it has this.

Bertrice Merrill leaves to Florence Gray her fluent translations in both Latin and French. With this gift you will find yourself very popular at recess.

To Norman Wilbur and Bertha Baraby is given the privilege of upholding the reputation of the town of Greenland in P. H. S. for Lillian Snow and Elizabeth Odell submit this honor to them.

Kenneth Noel leaves his position in the school orchestra to Leo Bridgely. Mahel Watkins bestows upon Helen Call her ostentatious manner of expressing herself, but take care that this doesn't get you in trouble, Helen. Ask Ma for further particulars.

John Leary and Patrick Murphy leave their frequent walks up Salisbury street with certain Juniors to John Pullman and John Regan.

To Martha Gray, Vera Miskel confers her ever ready supply of excuses for not having her lessons done on time. Sometimes they work, but more frequently they don't.

Alfred Fernald leaves his ability to talk so slow and modestly in class, or, possibly when the bell is about to ring, to Clara Manigault.

Howard Gray divides with Richman Margeson his love for teasing the girls. But remember, Richy, the girl's won't mind if you always keep plenty of candy in your pockets as Howard has done.

Merle Schurman, Helen Quinn, and Phyllis Somerville bequeath to Muriel Lance, Geneva Pennell and Marion Gray their accustomed place during recess at the window in Room Three. Be sure, girls, to use this window for no good purpose as these girls have.

Reluctantly, Hazel Manning leaves to Eileen Woods her self-possession and sarcasm. Now Eileen you may enter debating without any fear of being defeated.

Manning Simpson gladly gives up his bashfulness to Helen Newell. When used at the right time this often proves very effective.

Margaret Goodwin gives up her visits to the office for being late at least three times a week to Frances Howard. This is a very interesting way of becoming acquainted with the office force.

Roscoe Foust leaves to Merle Dorr his admiration for tall young women providing you be as faithful in your attentions as Roscoe has been.

Thelma Wentworth confers her many styles of hair dressing upon Virginia Barton and Eleanor Haskell on condition that you arrange it differently each day. Also her supply of shift-waists upon Carolyn Badger.

Mildred Sanderson leaves to Margaret Scott and Mary Walsh her daily recess lunches. Never fail to supply the whole room with "cats."

To Samuel Madden, John Thompson passes on his store of many colored neck-ties, and to Marjorie Kuchinsky his low voice. Exert yourself in recitations, Marjorie, or the class will find much trouble in hearing you.

With much regret, Dorothy Pennell agrees to give up all the notes she has ever received to Marion Williams, providing that you, Marion, will keep them as carefully as Dot has.

Grace Buckmaster shares with Dorothy Frizzell her pleasant evenings at the A. and N. Club, providing that you, Dot, will agree to be present every night except Sunday.

To Mary Timmons, Mary Cookley leaves her curly hair which is always a great source of trouble to her and to Milton Thompson the secret of her white teeth. We think, Milton, she uses Peroxide.

Alvin Dares donates to Louis Black and Phylbrook Butler his air of self-satisfaction. Don't let this crowd out other good qualities.

Katherine Cullinan and Clara Driscoll leave their ability to secure a ride home from school every noon to Edith O'Brien and Jeannette Quinn. But remember it doesn't matter in the least what sort of a conveyance you obtain.

Jessie Schurman sorrowfully passes on to Mary Crain the diamond which she wears to school, providing that you, Mary, will always wear it on your

To Bernard Browne, Anna Connors gives up her art of getting by with almost no studying at all.

Lena Cohen confers upon Marion Furler her love for an argument which often proves a great source of amusement to her friends.

George Ham leaves his quiet and demure manner to Herbert Jackson. This is very lacking with the teachers, Herbert. Just try it and see!

Upon Doris Eaton, Florence Johnson bestows her faithfulness in making out history notes. With this gift you need never experience any fear when called on.

Gladys Joy, otherwise known as "Gloam," leaves her broad grin to Alice Goodwin.

Jacelyn McDonough passes on her original ideas in Mathematics to Alice McWilliams. These often prove a great help to the class.

To Florence Howell and Mary Kalkin, Mae Marshall leaves her meek and unassuming manner. The teachers and librarians appreciate this, girls!

With much sorrow, Edith Lane gives up to Douglas Richardson his early morning rides to P. H. S. After such a ride you are in better condition to study.

Bertrice Oulton bestows upon Sylvia Sterling her angelic conduct. This has always proved a great source of enjoyment to the rest of the class.

To Rita Marston and Cecelia Murphy, Elizabeth O'Leary leaves her love of whispering. Always appear unacquainted, girls, when caught.

Catherine Dowdton generously bequeaths her ward-robes of dainty dresses to Edith Pearson on the one condition that she wear a different one each day.

To Dorothy Newick and Katherine Gray, Martha DeCoursey leaves her good-natured manner which is so popular with everyone.

Eleanor Hall and Mildred Gustafson give up to Teresa MacDonald and Lena Patterson their frequent afternoon visits to Room 4. Take their advice, girls, and report on time.

Vivian Goldsmith, who upholds the honor of the Seniors by playing the piano in chapel, passes on this accomplishment to Geraldine Davis and Beulah Cohen.

Grudgingly, Agnes Woodward bestows upon Marjorie Dockam the D. H. S. Class Pin she wears, and her constant laughter upon George Flandan.

GERMAN OFFICER SHOT DOWN MEN WHO OBEYED

(By Associated Press)

Thurs., Scotland, June 23—German sailors were shot down by their own officers, when they attempted to obey the command of the British naval officers and shut the sea cocks of the sinking ships. This statement was made by Lieut. Nuttall who arrived here from Scapa Flow. He said that when they pulled alongside of a sinking destroyer and ordered the German sailors to shut the sea cocks some of the men started to turn back, when the German officers shot four of five dead. We opened fire on the German officers and many of them were killed.

PARENT- TEACHERS HOLD SOCIAL MEETING

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Farragut school held a most enjoyable meeting on Monday evening at the school house. It was a noticeable contrast from that held last week at the Lafayette school, where there was a big play ground to have the exercises out of doors, but at the Farragut school to hold it out of doors would be to hold it in the street, so they had to be held in doors.

The lower hall and kindergarten rooms were prettily decorated and what the members and their guests lacked in room they made up in spirit. There was a large attendance the building being crowded and the entire program was very much enjoyed.

There were musical numbers by the children, and the new piano was much appreciated. Miss Lucy Frey told some very clever stories and there were refreshments and sale of candies, ice cream and cakes. This is the oldest Parent-Teachers Association in the city and despite the handicap in lack of a proper assembly and play grounds, the most enthusiastic, and confident that in time they will be given a proper play ground for the children of this school.

EARLY RETURN OF WILSON LIKELY

Paris, June 24—Activities noted Monday at the Paris residence of President Wilson appeared to indicate that preparations were being made for the president's departure for home.

GERMANY WILL SIGN PEACE TREATY

Germany is to sign unconditionally the treaty terms of the Allied and Associated governments. All the Germans had pleaded to strike out all provisions of the treaty which held Germany responsible for the war and calling for the trial of former Emperor or William for a supreme offense against the laws of nations and a violation of the sanctity of treaties, they submitted to the will of the allies that the provisions remain in full force in the treaty.

Likewise they made a strong plea for an extension of time allowed in which they could acknowledge their desire to sign or reject the treaty, and even the this was but forty-eight hours, based on the emergency of the formation of a new government, the Council of Three pre-emptively refused.

After having promised to meet the demands of the allies the spirit of reconciliation appeared a prevail for a time in the new cabinet of Herr Bauer, but this was soon overcome and the indication of signing this week was good. An indication that the Peace Conference will approve for the signing of the treaty by Thursday comes from Paris in the statement that the transport George Washington was ordered to be in readiness to sail for the United States on Thursday, but it did not say that it would sail.

In their plea for a lessening of the conditions of the treaty the Germans pleaded their inability to fulfil the terms of the treaty.

It is assumed in Paris that notwithstanding the fact that the Italian government has accepted the resignation of Premier Orlando and had a new cabinet had been formed by Senator Nitti, the Italian delegation in Paris had been instructed to sign the treaty.

The Question of Incomes.

A New England newspaper recently published an article on the question of incomes, the heading being: "One's income always seems inadequate."

That was a good beginning. There are comparatively few who do not feel that their incomes are inadequate in these days of high costs for all the necessities of life. But in the effort to increase their incomes to meet their growing expenses they are increasing the costs all the time. Those who work for wages are demanding and getting more, and those who have anything to sell are demanding and getting more. These increases are felt to be necessary to meet the high prices that have to be paid for all that one buys, and the result is that the tendency of prices is constantly upward.

Nevertheless this is not the only reason why so many people consider their incomes inadequate to their needs. This feeling is not altogether the result of present conditions. It existed long before this period of inflation and the chances are that it will exist long after the return of normal conditions, which must come sooner or later unless natural law has been changed. And there is no reason to believe that natural law has been permanently set aside.

There can be no doubt that habits of extravagance are largely responsible for the feeling that incomes are inadequate. People who have incomes that seem very large to those whose incomes are much less appear to be about as badly pinched as anybody, for the simple reason that their modes of living are on a plane to correspond, with the result that they have to figure about as sharply to make both ends meet as do their poorer neighbors.

A great many years ago Benjamin Franklin, one of the greatest American philosophers, told how to make any income adequate, and his prescription was to live within the income, no matter how small it might be. That is really the secret of making any income adequate, whether it be large or small, and the apparent inability to do this is what is causing most people in this day and generation to feel that their incomes are not sufficient for their needs.

But there are people in the country who are able to practice this philosophy, although they never heard of Benjamin Franklin. They are foreigners who came here with little or nothing, laid their hands to the first work they could find to do, and who manage to save something out of their earnings, however humble these may be. These are the people who in time forge their way to better things and reach positions where they have little fault to find with their incomes. The country is full of such examples, which are to be found in every city and town.

Not all can live as poor foreigners do when they first reach the country, nor is it necessary that they should. But if there could be a fuller realization of the great truth that if progress is to be made on the material side of life the outgo must be less than the income there would soon come a time when there would be less complaint about the inadequacy of incomes than there is now.

It is also the "commencement" season at the naval prison, from which nearly 300 men are soon to "graduate." Of this number 70 are to be restored to full duty and the others are to be dishonorably discharged. The diplomas of these will never be framed and hung on the wall.

The military and naval camp for boys at Belle Isle will soon be opened and fortunate will be the boys who are privileged to enjoy its advantages. They will be well fed, well cared for and well trained, and will be largely benefited physically and mentally.

William J. Flynn of the Department of Justice is of the opinion that there will be further bomb outrages. In all probability there will be unless the sleuths are more successful in running down the authors of the crimes than they have been up to this time.

A prize of $50,000 has been offered for a trans-Pacific air flight and the contest is open to the aviators of all nations. And it is to be noticed that no one is standing around and shouting "It can't be done."

At the Middlebury, Vt., College commencement one alumnus was present who traveled from Mincola, L. I., by airplane. He saw service in France, and a little trip like this was a mere side-play.

A new office has been created in Germany. It is "Minister of Reconstruction and Fulfillment of the Treaty," and it is quite safe to assume that it will not be a loafing position.

Even nature conspires to increase the cost of living. Lightning has been killing cows and sheep in different parts of New England.

OBJECTS TO SUPPRESSION OF CLASS SPIRIT

To the Editor of the Herald:

It might be interesting to the general public of this city to have brought to their attention a matter which has been causing more or less questioning, and not a little indignation among interested parties,—that is the suppression of class spirit at the local high school. It is generally known that in all high schools and colleges throughout America, class spirit between the Juniors and the graduating class runs its course during the last few days of every school year. It is traditional. This same spirit actuates oldsmen to continue at intervals class reunions. It is the spirit—the actual life of loyalty to our school, it keeps alive a feeling of pride in a class to be of benefit to its school—for the honor of the class. It is a tradition of the local school for both the Junior and Senior class each year to try to raise a banner with the class minerals on it. Previous to this year, this has been permitted,—each class being given the privilege of trying to prevent the raising of the banner by each other. This year by a disgusting offensive action on the part of a person connected with the school authorities, an attempt has been made to suppress this commendable spirit in the life of High School students. To the indignation and disgust of both classes and to the people of Portsmouth who are interested in the welfare and development of students, the authorities have resorted to the rather contemptible procedure of enlisting the police to interfere with High School activities. I think the voters and mothers of Portsmouth will readily agree to the gentle suggestion that the efforts of "Portsmouth's finest" would be appreciated to a greater extent if they were confined to the protection of the homes of this city rather than concentrating upon a group of High School boys whose greatest crime is that of wishing to keep alive in our High School—Class Spirit.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Two Discharged.

A coppermith and a musician completed their enlistment today and were discharged from the service on the receiving ship Southey. Both men left for their homes in California.

Coming Out Friday.

The work of painting the hull of the receiving ship Southey was started in dry dock today. The ship is expected to be floated on Friday.

In Temporary Reserve.

The U. S. S. Rappahannock has been placed in temporary reserve to await the action of the department as to the work necessary to be carried out at the local yard, which may be known in ten days.

Enjoying Auto Trip.

Miss May Winslow of Dover, the popular and efficient stenographer in the Industrial Department, is one of an auto party enjoying a trip through the interesting points in Maine and the mountains of New Hampshire.

Gives Them Some Comfort.

Boston navy yard employees appear to have a grievance over the removal of the 160-ton crane from there to the Brooklyn yard and a protest has been made through Mayor Peters of Boston against this removal. Assistant Secretary Roosevelt gives them some comfort in his promise to replace it with a 125-ton crane and not to divert any work from Boston in consequence of the substitution.

Attended the Exercises.

Ident. Austin H. McCormick and Dr. A. L. Grant of the Naval prison have returned from Bowdoin College commencement exercises held at Brunswick.

Visiting the Yard.

Miss Genevieve Hamlin of New York and Miss Azure Todd of Salem, Mass., are the guests of Comdr. and Mrs. W. J. Hill.

Bridge and Tea Party.

A very pleasant bridge and tea was given this afternoon by Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Porter at their quarters in the yard hospital.

20 Negroes in Plantation Scene.

The show to be given by the prisoners at the naval prison, which the date has been changed from July 1 and 2 to Saturday evening, June 28, will be featured by a plantation scene in which 20 Southern negroes who are right at home in this performance, will appear in songs and dancing. It will be the real thing and the dancing especially is due for a big hit.

The Way Dover Sees It.

The Dover Democrat, speaking of the game between the Dover team and the U. S. S. Southern of the Sunset League, which takes place on Saturday next, has the following:

"On Saturday afternoon, June 28, Manager Connors has made arrangements to have the strong Southern team of the Portsmouth Sunset League play with Dover at Central Park. The Southern team defeated the Navy Yard

It is expected that Parliament would ratify the treaty into in July.

Pork pigs were sold for a dollar—25 cents apiece—in Nashua. It appeared that the mother of the pigs had no milk for them, and a man who was at the farm of Senator Theriault engaged in swapping three $5 bills for two pigs, offered a dollar for the quartet of little ones that were bound to die if not brought up on a bottle. His offer was accepted and the man is now supplying bottle sustenance.

The Hampton Beach and Hampton Board of Trade has grown to be one of the busiest and liveliest commercial bodies in New England.

At the hotel Janvella on Monday evening some four hundred members and their ladies gathered to "eat" and hear speeches. It was the most successful affair in the history of the board, due largely to the efforts of the bustling secretary, A. H. Nutting. At 8:30 the members and guests formed in line and marched to the big dining hall where a genuine banquet was served. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers—the orchestra being backed with flowers. President J. Frank James welcomed the guests and he had seated with him

STATE SHOOT AT EXETER THIS WEEK

The New Hampshire state trap-shooting tournament will be held next Friday and Saturday over the Exeter Gun Club traps, now installed on the old golf course. The shooting grounds are out over the river giving a clear view of the sea and some good shooting is looked for.

There will be two days' shooting starting at ten o'clock each day and at noon each day a clam bake will be served. The events will be: Friday: Six 25-target events, entrance for trophies and targets $5.00; Six dollar optional sweeps 150 targets divided Ross system. Saturday: The game program will be shot for and in addition there will be a team match 160 targets. The entrance for this will be $2.00 each member or $12.00 for the team, with five cash prizes for the winning team.

A silver cup for the high amateur score for Friday has been donated by Thomas R. Varick of Manchester. It is anticipated that there will be a good field shot and the majority of the local gunners will shoot on Saturday when a team will be entered from the Portsmouth Country Club.

A. F. OF L. FOR BETTER SCHOOLS

Among the resolutions adopted by the American Federation of Labor, at Atlantic City on Monday, was the following pertaining to schools:

"A thoroughgoing reorganization of the school schedules of teachers in public schools, normal schools and universities to meet the increased cost of living.

"The liberal, ungrudging reorganization and increase of school revenues as the only means of maintaining and developing the efficiency of our public schools. Hearty support should be given to the increasing demand for well-considered methods of vocational guidance in our schools.

"The basic language of instruction in all schools, both public and private, should be the English language, foreign languages to be taught only as subjects in the curriculum. Adequate facilities for the teaching of English to non-English-speaking people should be made.

"The establishment of complete systems of modern physical education

K. OF C. SHOW AT THE NAVAL HOSPITAL

The patients confined at the Naval Hospital enjoyed a fine vaudeville show Monday evening given by the St. Raphael's church choir of Kittery, Me., under the auspices of the K. of C. War activities.

The show consisted of six numbers:
1. Solo—"Home to You Ireland."
2. Dutch Comedians.
3. Duett—"Night of Joy."
4. Novelty Act—"The Boy Who Stuttered and the Girl who Lapsed."
5. Reading.
6. The Suffragette Parade.

There was something doing every minute and each number was put over with a snap to the great delight of the sick men.

The game cast will repeat the show this evening for the benefit of St. Raphael's church of Kittery, Me.

LEMON JUICE

FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! it is harmless and never irritates.

KITTERY

Kittery, June 21.—A supper was served on Monday evening at the vestry of the Second Methodist church to the teams in Centenary drive from the local church and the South Elliot church, a committee from the Ladies' Aid Society acting as hostesses. The menu included salads, assorted sandwiches, hot rolls, pickles, olives, assorted cake, fancy cookies and coffee. A good time was enjoyed by all during the social hour experience of the several members of the teams being related.

DON'T LET JULY 4 CELEBRATION LAG
Everything is going fine with the program for our July 4th celebration and testimonial for the men of the service with the exception of contributions. The "coin" is not coming. $1.00 contributions from the five men of the city will not do it. There will be a final meeting of the committee of arrangements at the Elks Home on Wednesday evening and every member should attend. There must not be any half way about doing the job.

PATIENTS AT THE HOSPITAL VERY MUCH DISTURBED
Freak Drivers Using Cut-out Open Should Be Prosecuted.

The time is short when something will be done to stop the annoyance to patients at the Portsmouth Hospital by the uncalled for noise from automobiles using open cut out on Junks Avenue.

The noise from machines not only disturbs the sick, but it is so continuous that the condition of the people confined there is often retarded. The city of Dover is going to stop it and Chief of Police Wilkinson has ordered the arrest of any auto driver working the cut out open in the vicinity of the Portsmouth Hospital.

What will be done in Portsmouth? This nuisance has reached a point where it has become unbearable and either the management or the police must take some action to check it. Perhaps signs at each end of the avenue calling the attention of drivers to the hospital and requesting them to make as little noise as possible might help some. If this fails the police should prosecute freak drivers for violation of the motor vehicle laws.

No other city in the country would tolerate this disturbance to the sick and there is no reason why Portsmouth should.

The police commission would be doing an act of duty and kindness to stop this practice.
